

April 27th Lunch time meeting with Major Brendan Nottle of the Salvation Army

Our next lunch time meeting will have a very special guest – Major Brendan Nottle of the Salvation Army will speak to us regarding the effects of Covid 19 on the homeless and also talk about the Magpies Nest. We have been working with the Magpies Nest team for the past few years and Barry has been successful in obtaining houses in the Monash area that are available for people who have met with hard times and need somewhere safe to live. Well done Barry and we look forward to hearing from Major Nottle about the progress of the program and how we can continue to help.

During the last year, many people experienced being homeless who may never have thought this would ever happen to them! We are very pleased to have a relationship with the Salvation Army and the Collingwood Football Club (who sponsor the Magpies Nest program) to enable us to help those less fortunate than ourselves.
